

AS/EN/JISQ 9100 Awareness Course

In partnership JPD Training and Acorn Management Solutions are offering a one-day Aerospace Management System AS/EN/JISQ 9100 Awareness Course.

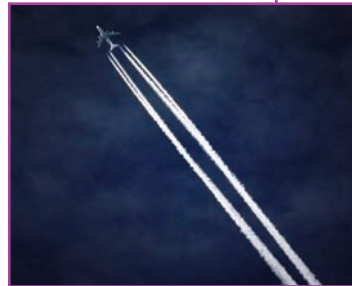

What you will learn

This one-day course provides delegates with awareness of the key requirements of AS/EN/JISQ 9100, together with implications on existing established systems. Based on other standards and specifications such as ISO 9001:2000 and TS 157, it will explain how the concept of specific aerospace management systems have been developed in response to the needs of primes and regulatory bodies.

The course

- Purpose and overview of the key requirements of AS 9100
- Impact of AS 9100 on existing international and industry standards and practices
- The potential implications to suppliers and customers.

This course is only available as an In-House presentation at your own premises and will enable you to discuss the potential impact of the standard on any current organisational issues.

Who should attend?

Any manager or quality professional who needs to understand the role and impact of the standard on the aerospace industry.
