

ISO/TS16949 for Suppliers to the Automotive

APQP-PPAP

Who should attend?

A one-day workshop that introduces a new or modified part or manufacturing process and is suitable for:

- Managers, supervisors, engineers and technicians who have specific responsibilities for new or modified part or manufacturing process introduction and for gaining customer approval
- The course focuses on meeting automotive supplier requirements but is also applicable to all manufacturing organisations

The course

- Overview and benefits
- APQP process
- PPAP process
- Review of quality standard requirements
- Preparing an APQP-PPAP procedures

FMEA

Who should attend?

A one-day workshop on how to lead or participate in a FMEA study that is suitable for:

- Anyone who has an interest in minimising the risk to preventable design, process and planning related issues
- Managers, engineers and technicians who have specific responsibilities for design or process management

The course

- The FMEA chart and process sequence
- When a study is required
- Use of block diagrams
- RPN calculation and significance
- Use of root cause analysis tools
- Preparing a FMEA chart